Maria Sanz Kimono was born in 2013 as a way to transform conversation into fabric. Maria wanted something that transcended fashion and trends. Something that would reclaim the essence of the wearer, serving as a talisman, so intimate that at the slightest fear of exposure, it would become a form of protection.

L I F E

YAWÁ COLORS

Dreamed up and developed by Nawashahu Yawanawá and Maria Sanz, these pieces were created from designs made during a spiritual diet at the Sacred Village on the Gregório River, Acre.

Kenes are symbols representing the elements of the forest, the power of water, the moon, the sun, and traditional designs such as Paspi, the sacred spears, the strength of the warriors, as well as the fish and baskets, which tell the sacred stories of the Yawanawá Pots.
